

Northeastern University's VICEROY DECREE Virtual Institute is seeking mentors with backgrounds in Cybersecurity, Electromagnetic Spectrum, Cryptography, and/or Data Science

Each mentor will engage with VICEROY DECREE VI scholarship recipients to act as a role model, participate in regular monthly gatherings to provide career guidance in DoD and DIB careers, participate in networking events with scholars and our industry partners and in DECREE informational sessions with high school students, and support advertising and communicating Train the Trainer opportunities to community colleges.

Mentors will be provided with a small stipend for their participation and efforts.

About the VICEROY DECREE Virtual Institute:

The VICEROY DECREE Virtual Institute is a consortium of 5 universities (Northern Arizona University, University of Houston, University of South Carolina, University of Texas – Austin, and Northeastern University as the lead) to provide a shared curriculum in cybersecurity, EMS, strategic foreign languages, and data science in order to increase the pipeline of highly qualified professionals, particularly from historically underserved groups, seeking careers in the DoD and industry partners. Scholars will have the opportunity to take courses and participate in workshops, seminars, and other industry-related events at partner institutions.

If you are interested in becoming a VICEROY DECREE VI mentor and/or have any questions, please email viceroymdecree@khoury.northeastern.edu.
